Oneness Conceived – Duality Perceived

It is in the conscious mind we learn to discriminate;
To carefully pull apart, analyze and to differentiate.

Each race is proud to set itself above and apart;
Our cultures, customs, our passions and our art.

Our mind-set is to argue over what we think is better.
Each thinks his traditions come from God to the letter.

Individual responsibility is an indispensable prerequisite;
Expressing individuality just to be different - inadequate.

We spend our lives in an effort to distinguish our name.
In the eyes of the world we seek approval and avoid blame.

In the material world and in all forms of life we analyze,
We classify, discuss at length, and in the end, categorize.

We're concerned with religious division and disharmony
But we continue to build walls around our philosophy.

We are concerned with how each is unique or different –
And ignore the truth in each, the Laws invariant.

The atom and the vast universe we wish to know,
Have in common the same structure, the pull to and fro.

Entangled and deluded by what we think is Reality,
Unable to imagine the whole, we fail to see the unity.

The Author

James Renford Powell

James Renford Powell is the author of 35 books, all of which are based in metaphysical studies. He is the founder of the Institute of Applied Metaphysics, a three degree level program facilitating evolution and unfoldment, and IAMPress, Inc. a publishing company specializing in work with authors who want to maintain ownership of their work. His personal ministry is called COR (Church of Revelation) and is an online worldwide ministry. Details on these organizations can be found at www.IAM-COR.org. Renford created the E-zine (magazine) Lightways and has developed the RBR Network of talk shows on www.blogtalkradio.com/renford. The Renford Broadcast Network is available on YouTube and includes The Book Man Show, The Core Concepts Series, The Laws of Material Wealth Personal Development Program, Music with Meaning, the Renford Theatre – Metaphysical related movies and an Audio Books section. Additional information on James Renford Powell is available on Google, Yahoo and Bing.

Renford trained for the ministry and served during the Viet Nam War as a missionary teacher in Cholon, the Chinese community in Saigon, South Viet Nam. He studied Mandarin Chinese at the University of Saigon – School of Living Languages. In his search for common ground with his students, he became a student of Eastern religions and philosophy. His studies led him to the conclusion that there were certain principles that were taught by the Great Masters and that were common to all religions. He remained abroad for 20 years, living, working and traveling throughout the Far East, the Middle East and Europe immersing himself in the Chinese and Arab cultures, their languages and religions. His studies of their ancient texts and cultures were not just book learning but live and up close. He insists that his higher education commenced when he began his mission in South Vietnam in 1966.

Renford rarely uses any title designation even though he is the Overseer of the Church of Revelation and founder of the Institute of Applied Metaphysics. He is a writer, speaker and teacher, as well as a radio and television host. He has never been a devotee of any Guru, Swami or Master, and he does not follow exclusively any spiritual discipline of the East or West. He has listened, learned and even lived with extraordinary teachers. He feels no need to create credibility by the use of a recognized teacher's name. He does not see any religious organization as necessary in the process of Self-discovery. His insights and writings come from Universal Mind without filtration through any doctrine or dogma. He points out that his program of study is self-verifiable.

The Renford process of Self-discovery is taught from experience and bears little resemblance to any organized religious discipline or any system or ritual taught by recognized Asian or Occidental teachers. He teaches nothing he has not experienced, seen revealed in his intuitive meditations or that cannot be understood by utilization of the four pillars of his program. They are Identification, Verification, Observation and Meditation. Identification of the 13 Universal Laws and verification of them in one's own life experiences followed by Self-observation and Meditation are his regimen. His teachings can more easily be traced to the experiences of Buddha, Jesus, Pythagoras, Heraclitus, Philo and Spinoza than to organized religion or any modern teachers. This is because it is the same experience, yet he writes about his own process and only mentions their experiences where they parallel his own.

All of the Renford books and articles go to the heart of religion and philosophy – the original principles taught by all the Great Masters. Each book deals with how they are alike, as opposed to how they are different. He maintains the differences came about due to the organization builders who came after the Great Masters.

The emphasis of his books, articles and lectures is on assisting students and readers with the process of Self-discovery, which is where we can come to know ourselves and Universal Being. No leap of faith is required. Each student is free to follow his own path and at his own pace. Using a sports analogy, he says, “One can be taught to tackle, run with the ball, block, and in general perform the functions required to play the game of football, but the game cannot exist without the rules. Such a game would not be football as we know it. Without first the Laws, there could have been no creation, and life could not be sustained. The Laws of Life had to exist first because without them, no life would be possible. They are the Divine Self-expression.” He goes on to say, “Understand the rules of the game of life and it is possible to be in harmony and find purpose in it.”

People all over the world are discovering that they can study world religions and philosophy and go to great lengths to develop spiritually and still not really go far in the process of Self-discovery. More than anything else, Renford wants to introduce the public to the Renford Books because they clarify the process. He brings out the ultimate master in each of us. We start with the conscious process of identifying and verifying each of the Universal Laws from our life experiences. Once the Laws are clearly understood on a conscious level, we begin the process of Self-observation and let the intuitive mind, the inner being, take over. There are many more facets of each Law that we can come to know at this level.

The Renford Books are the result of the author’s process of Self-discovery. They deal with how, regardless of religion and culture, the Masters brought a common message.

Introduction

Why Study the Renford Books?

It has always been my habit to write when moved to do so. It is only when I really feel like I have something to say that I can write. Sitting down and laboring over a manuscript when I am not moved to do so has not worked. For this reason I often have multiple writing projects that have the potential to turn into books. Many times two such books become one and sometime one ends up two different books. Two of the Renford Books The Core Teachings and The Father Confusors were part of my original manuscript. These books were originally one book that I began writing 19 years ago. It took almost 10 years from when I completed the first draft of The House That Namuh Built and when it was finally published. A book can languish 8 years before I get back to it as is the case with Original Science.

There are many paths in the process of Self-discovery and individual transformation. A good teacher points the way and facilitates a process for the student to move forward on his own path. For some, The Renford Books are an exciting discovery. They are certainly broad in scope and worthy of your investigation.

There is no more important study than the process of knowing the Self. “Just the facts, ma’am.” was the dry comment to the chatter of the witness by the policeman in one of the old television series. There is a great deal of “chatter” in the metaphysical, philosophical and religious arenas. Regardless of which religion one espouses, the heart of the process is work on Self. It is a process that necessitates consciously identifying and verifying each of the Universal Laws from our life experiences.

In most religions, and in the many philosophical schools of thought, two things weigh heavier than the experiential aspect. They are tradition and blind faith, both of which carry no weight in my approach to Self-discovery. The following statements are often considered dogmatic, but consider them for yourself. I will state the facts as I have come to understand them and the reader can take it from there.

- You can travel to the farthest recesses of any continent, endure years of discipline, have personal time with a Master Teacher, learn to develop psychic capabilities and experience intense visions, but sooner or later, the Universal Laws must be consciously identified and verified from your life experiences in order for you to truly know your Self. The courses of study, and the Renford Books specifically, offer assistance with this approach.
- The insistence on the necessity of identifying and verifying the Universal Laws is not an insistence on a path. It is a prerequisite to finding a path. It is a process of finding our bearings so that we can go in the right direction when we find a path. It is turning on the light so we can see the door.
- You can memorize the Kama Sutra, but if you don't have sex, you do not know. You can memorize the Bible, the Vedic writings, the Dhammapada and the Tao Teh Ching, but if you do not recognize and see the Laws in them and in your life, you cannot consciously know. With the Renford Books, you can start now wherever you are and whatever you are doing.

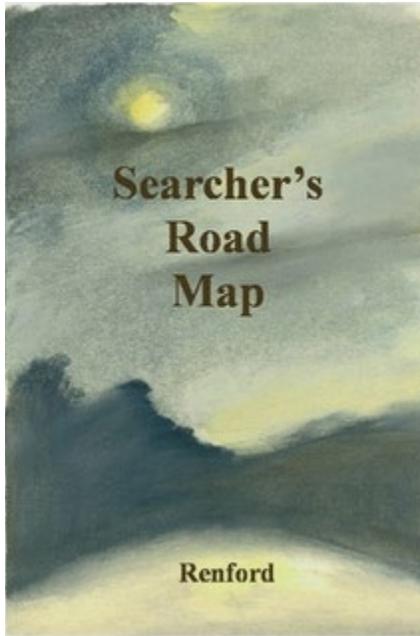

- You can read all of the ancient texts in the languages in which they were written. You can read every “new age” book that comes down the pike, listen to CDs by speakers who command huge fees, council with your most insightful minister, follow the greatest evangelists of our time, sit at the feet of the most renowned teachers and your favorite psychic, but if the foundation has not been laid by the process of identification and verification of the Universal Laws, you will only be a perennial seeker. You must do the work on Self. There are no substitutes.
- Every time Jesus and the Great Masters of wisdom spoke a recorded word, they were defining, illustrating or in some manner teaching one or more of the Universal Laws. Yet, their own students and disciples did not understand until the process of identification and verification of a Law from their life experiences was realized. The Bible is full of such examples. This is what is meant by “Their ears are dull of hearing and their eyes are closed.” Understanding on a conscious level is necessary to the process.
- There are hundreds of thousands of priests, preachers, monks, mullahs and rabbis ready, willing and able to tell us how we are different. This study program draws specific comparisons as to how all the Great Masters’ teachings were alike as opposed to how they were different.
- There is no doctrine, creed, code or statement of faith to be learned or embraced at the Institute or COR. There is only a process of identification and verification of each of the Laws from your own life experiences.
- There is no required timetable or level of understanding for which you are tested. The lesson questions mark your passage as having completed a book or course. They are part of the learning process and not a test of your memory.
- Once the Laws are identified and verified, you are operating on knowledge instead of faith because you have been there and done that. It is based purely on your experiences, conscious and intuitive, and not on any tradition or belief system. Faith primarily becomes a factor when it is time to do something about what you know.
- Once you know, no matter what book you read, speaker you hear or teacher’s seminar you attend, you will know whether they know or not. You will know whether they are speaking from experience or relying on academic training, doctrine and dogma or just blowing smoke. Emerson said, “Don’t say things. What you ARE stands over the while and thunders so that I cannot hear what you say to the contrary.”
- Once verified and understood even on a superficial level, as you experience life or reflect further, you will understand the Laws in ever increasing depth. Spinoza wrote, “God and the Universal Laws of structure and operation are one and the same reality.”

In summary, I do not ask you to believe anyone or anything. He is suggesting that you can identify and verify the Laws for yourself. You may be unable to complete this process with all 13 of the Laws from your experiences because you may have trouble recognizing them. On the other hand, you may come to the conclusion there are 14 or 15 Laws. This is a matter of categorization.

I am sharing what I have come to know because I must do so to be in harmony with the Law of Giving and Receiving. I cannot expand my receptacle to receive without sharing with those who want to know. I am fulfilling my purpose. My primary objective is to state the facts as I have come to understand them based on this process of identification and verification. It is secondary as to whether a student or reader of the Renford Books becomes a member of COR, registers as a student of the Institute or even attends a class or seminar. I encourage each reader to examine the principles for himself, and each individual is responsible for what he does with this knowledge. The possible outcome for readers and students is that they may become much more committed to their religion or tradition because they will have a better understanding of the lessons. This will be true regardless of whether the speaker or teacher fully understands them or not.

So, why should one read the Renford Books, and work toward completion of the first level of the Institute? What differentiates the Institute and my approach from the many metaphysical writers and “how to” authors whose works can be found in bookstores and on the internet? There are names far more recognizable to the general public than mine. The purpose of this catalog is to bring to your attention a body of work with which you may not be familiar. The Renford Books are substantial, comprehensive and may be considered unlike the collections of most metaphysical teachers.

The Searcher's Road Map

This is a guide to the principles found in the teachings of all the great Masters and your guide to exploring, participating and understanding all facets of life as a spiritual seeker. Every time Jesus is recorded as saying anything, he was explaining or illustrating the Universal Laws. In fact, it had been foretold and confirmed in Matthew 13 that the mission of Jesus was to reveal these secrets that had lain hidden from the foundation of the world.

This book is available as an e-book free on the IAM-COR website and as a paperback. This book promotes no religion but seeks to show how we are alike as opposed to how we are different.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- An introduction to the Renford Books
- An introduction to the Institute of Applied Metaphysics and The Church of Revelation
- A basic definition of each of the Universal Laws, which is the beginning of any real study of Self
- A mind-set change that is comparable to a reboot of your computer

The COR Document

The COR Document addresses the problems that beset religious organizations and explains the mission of the group. The Church of Revelation was established to provide assistance with the personal ministries of graduates of the Institute of Applied Metaphysics. One may be a part of COR simply by reading the COR Document and answering the questions. This unique concept in service is explained in the book and provides the most politics-free religious structure known.

There are no doctrines, dogmas, creeds, practices or rituals. You are not asked to accept anything on faith. Instead of working with belief systems learned from birth, you are working with what you can come to know.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- Information on a different kind of Church where reason need not be suspended
- The seven revelations most beneficial to the individual process of Self-discovery
- How to come to know Universal Being through coming to know your Self
- Comparison of the COR truths to the many and varied doctrines of religion and philosophy

The Father Confusors

I have published many books, articles and essays that take a metaphysical approach to interpreting ancient texts such as the Vedas, the Dhammpavada, the Tao Teh Ching and the Bible. He follows no theological dogma nor adopts any philosophical school. He teaches that taking a single approach to the exclusion of any other will not produce an accurate picture. Some texts must be taken metaphysically, some as historical and some as physical events. Ancient witnesses described events from their point of reference, which cannot be compared to ours with all of the technological advancements of the 21st century. Like the ancients, interpretations will be based on point of reference, fixed religious tradition or philosophical bias.

This is a study of ancient scriptures and the parallels that can be seen in related stories. It is in the third level of the study program of the Institute of Applied Metaphysics and builds on the lessons learned from the Universal Laws.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- A clearer understanding of the nature of God or Universal Being
- Answers to many enigmas we find displayed in ancient texts showing the very human qualities of an entity being called God
- Understanding of the stark differences between entities that were thought to be God or posed as God (war gods) and The First Cause, the Creative Force which is God or Universal Being

The Metaphysical Bible

Each biblical book was written by the writer to a specific individual or group for a specific reason. Each writer had his own style and way of getting his point across. One cannot interpret all these books literally, metaphysically or with any set formula and it is a mistake of enormous proportions to think that all the books of the Bible can be interpreted in exactly the same manner.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- A metaphysical treatment of Bible passages that are obviously not meant to be taken literally but metaphorically
- A deeper and, with all due respect to theologians and philosophers, clearer picture of what was being said
- Facts about how we got our Bible
- Beautiful expressions of the Universal Laws in familiar passages

The Rules of the Game

This book introduces the Universal Laws in the simplest manner possible. It is not an in-depth study, but provides a basis for understanding of the Laws. Many people are not really interested in what the great sages had to say and they do not consider what Jesus or Buddha had to say as relevant to their lives today. They are, however, interested in what Vince Lombardi, Lou Holtz and Bear Bryant had to say. These legendary philosopher coaches may never have thought in terms of Universal Principles but when they were quoted they were stating truths they understood from experience. They were in fact stating Universal Laws. The game of football is shown to be analogous to the Laws of Life, and the quotes illustrate that even on the simplest everyday matters of life, these Laws are in play.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- An explanation of each of the Universal Laws on a simplified basis with examples
- The basis for an understanding of the Universal Laws as they relate to the game of life
- An understanding of what makes any game, including the game of life, what it is
- An appreciation of the rules, principles or Laws as the determining factor in the nature of the game
- An understanding of how important it is to come into harmony with the rules or Laws

Research into what the founders said about the Universal Laws led to the creation of this book.

This is a study of the writings of Charles Fillmore and Emily Cady and records what they said about the Universal Laws in comparison to what are commonly accepted as the Unity Principles today. No matter how the Unity Principles are represented today, we can see that Fillmore and Cady were very specific in their statements.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- A powerful coaching session by the masters of new thought
- An understanding of what Unity was all about in the mind of the founders
- An introduction to Dr. Emilie Cady who powerfully influenced the movement
- A different perspective of the thinking of the founders of the Unity Movement

The River of Life

The River of Life is an allegory with many symbols. It is a modern day parable about the eternal nature of being. Everything is a cycle and full of purpose. The being in fulfillment had no beginning and will have no end. The soul of humankind cannot be destroyed. Like a cell of the human body that can be cloned, it is a cell of Universal Being with the same natural power of the whole. There is always communication between the whole and the part, but we are mostly unaware of its presence.

- This book addresses the various theories of life after death that are usually dumped under the general term of “reincarnation”. Christian dogma starts the clock on the nature of being with physical birth and draws a linear line to death. This concept essentially denies the word “eternal” except in terms of an eternal reward or punishment. The word “eternal” does not mean only that the soul of human beings is without end. It also means that it is without beginning.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- A more complete understanding of the various forms of life after death as taught by various religions
- A clearer understanding of the eternal nature of being.
- A different perspective of our inseparability from God as where live, move and have our being

This workbook follows The Laws of Material Wealth in which answers to key questions for new entrepreneurs are addressed. What is the reason for the large numbers of people who are opting to start their own business? What is the missing ingredient that causes such a high rate of business failures within the first five years? In this workbook we will examine each of these Universal Laws in which we must be in harmony.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- Questions to prompt you with self-examination
- Quotes from notables to illustrate each of the Laws and exercises to relate your life experiences
- Four - five exercises in each chapter to help you identify and verify each of the Universal Laws
- Sample questions to ask as prompts for the process of recognizing the Laws.
- Knowledge of how to make application of this knowledge in the creation of the image held in thought

The Mysteries Revealed

This book looks at the meaning of the most controversial of the biblical books – the Book of Revelation. It is also called the Revelation of John. Many equate the word “apocalyptic” with the word “catastrophic”. Apocalyptic does not mean catastrophic. It means revelation. Dreams can seem crazy when viewed in relative consciousness, so it is important to use the language of the mind. Since there are a number of visions mentioned, The Book of Revelation should be treated and interpreted as a dream. Though most consider it simply to be a book of riddles, there are those who teach a religion of fear based upon it. It is really about moving from fear based feeling to love based living. The Mysteries Revealed is a metaphysical interpretation of the Apocalypse of John – the revelation of Jesus. It is a roadmap to Self-unfoldment. It is the mysteries revealed.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- A totally different perspective on the Book of Revelation and the discovery of the book as one of transformation from fear based feeling to love based living
- Knowledge of dream symbols and the base numbers as the language of the mind
- Understanding of the Book of Revelation as a series of visions that must be interpreted based on the language of the mind

The House That Namuh Built

This book is an allegory, a modern day parable about first a man, and then about a whole people who embark on the path of Self-discovery. Again, it is about the Universal Laws, the invariant facts of life upon which we can base our understanding. Everyone in the story represents an attitude, an emotion or a Universal Law. This allegory will aid you in identifying and verifying the Universal Laws in your life experiences just as Namuh recognizes each principle that is being brought to his attention.

The creation of meaningful allegories, in fact, the writing of allegories, is an art form that some think is disappearing. When you do find a good allegory that is expressing a Universal Principle, it can have a powerful effect on your life.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- To be able to grasp a Universal Law as you relate to Namuh's experience
- To be able to identify your own attitudes and perspectives
- To gather knowledge of the levels of mind as illustrated by Namuh
- A better understanding of the meaning of life as opposed to the illusion in which we live

The Core Teachings

This book identifies thirteen Universal Laws that were taught by the Great Masters. The emphasis is on how their teachings were alike as opposed to how they were different. It can be read in two ways. It may be read from front to back in the normal way, or the reader can take any one of the Universal Laws and follow the thinking of the Masters one by one. You can read what Buddha had to say about a particular Universal Law in the Dhammapada, what Lao Tzu said about it in the Tao Teh Ching, and so on in the Vedic texts, the Gospels and the Koran.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- A clear picture of how the original teachings of the Masters parallel each other
- A more comprehensive picture of a Universal Law than any way that has thus far been made available
- A more in depth study of each Law by means of a color code that can be followed from the Vedic writers through the Tao Teh Ching, the Buddhist Texts, the Gospels, the Koran and Master Teachers through to the present

Renford Revelations – Volume One

This book includes a series of my essays, articles and blogs. There are 52 commentaries on a variety of contemporary subjects. The power that can be gained by understanding the ancient teachings of the Masters comes alive with understanding of applied metaphysics. Without a practical way to understand and harmonize with the Universal Laws, the benefits are limited to the intellect or faith.

What You Can Expect From These Books:

- Essays and articles that cover a wide range of subjects from the perspective of one who has identified and verified each of the Universal Laws experientially
- An introduction to a process based on 4 very important pillars of knowing – Identification, Verification, Observation and Meditation
- Awareness of the relationship between faith and knowledge
- Recognition of how these master teachers were alike in their teachings as opposed to how they are different
- A shift in your perspective as the Universal Laws are identified and verified

Renford Revelations – Volume Two

This series of blogs, articles and essays ask such questions as “Why Study Metaphysics?” and provides insights on such mysteries as the Book of Revelation. However, as in Volume One, this book covers a wide spectrum of topics that includes everything from Biblical interpretation to modern day concerns such as “World Peace” and such philosophical questions as “What is Time” and “What is Infinity?” From Education to the Laws of Material Wealth a totally different perspective is provided.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- Where the real battleground in the world rages and that the wars we see are only the ramifications of this battle
- The idea that there is a great secret to success is dispelled.
- The importance of “Attitude” and the absolute chaos caused in the world by the acceptance of “Duality” as a fact of life
- Answers to enigmas of the Biblical texts

Renford Revelations – Volume Three

As noted in Volume One and Volume Two, these blogs, articles and essays are not restrained to any specific subject matter. You will find that the journey into the process of self-discovery continues with one surprise after another. Subject matter that you quite possibly have never given much thought to is presented in a thought provoking way. Volume Three also provides some detail on the Renford Books and why they were written.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- Facts presented that you will not find available from organized religion about how the world's religions came to be
- Truths revealed by ancient teachers of Egypt, Persia and American Indians with core truths
- My personal experiences that were lessons leading to the identification and verification of the Universal Laws

Renford Revelations – Volume Four

The Renford Revelations are not centered around a particular theme other than being based on the Universal Laws. Volume One did provide revelations on each of these Universal Principles but in each volume are collected 52 revelations and each is a stand-alone discussion of a thought or understanding. These understandings are written with regard to what I am working on or incidents that precipitate meditation on a subject.

The fourth collection of the Renford Revelations addresses a number of scientific questions about which there has been much writing but not necessarily clarifying for the average person.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- Subjects examined and traced
- Explanation of the four pillars in the process of evolution and unfoldment of the individual
- Addressed subjects such as magnetism, energy, vibratory law and mathematics

Renford Revelations – Volume Five

This is the fifth and last volume completed, however, blogs are being written frequently and when there are 52 unpublished, another volume of the Renford Revelations is ready for publication. Each is a surprise as they are not in a collection of articles about a particular theme. When you finish with one, be prepared for being blindsided in some cases. The next one will likely have no bearing on the one just read. Many of the blogs, articles and essays are focused on the meaning of words that have undergone a form of mutation to the point there is a completed different meaning from the original intent.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- Examination and explanation of some obscure terms used by writers today and in the past that are oxymoronic.
- Examination of a number of Vedic, Arabic and theological terms

The Revealer

The Revealer is an in depth study of the mission of Jesus, the religious and political scene at the time of his recorded life and the very essence of his teachings. This book deals with the secrets he said he was there to reveal. He said these secrets had lain hidden from the foundations of the earth. Matthew 13:35

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- Clarification of some of the enigmas that leave you wondering why Jesus said what he said, why there has been so much redaction of the books and why many disappeared for centuries
- A closer look at the mission of Jesus and when it was complete
- Revelation of each of the Universal Laws as explained in the parables
- Understanding of why so many Jewish and Pagan Gnostics were attracted to the teachings of Jesus and why the main body of this community was Gnostic for the first 300 years

The Literalist Conspiracy

This book gives an accurate picture uncolored by the Catholic Church of what made up those who were called Christians before there was a Bible or any doctrine and dogma. It reveals a small group of the lowest level Gnostics, called Hylics, who interpreted the myths with meaning written by Gnostics literally and turned them into narratives. It is about the state of Christianity through to the Nicene Council in 325.

It traces the development of a new aggressive and violent religion founded by the Emperor, a non-Christian, for political purposes. This new religion was structured along the lines of the Roman Military. This structure combined with the state created a resilient theocracy that when the state failed continued to develop through other states. This book contains information on existing and competing religions at the time and the role politics played in the creation of the Bible.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- Background information on the major issues of the day and the forces in play before and after the life of Jesus
- Material available today that was suppressed by the Church
- A comprehensive look at the religions and politics in play from the time of Jesus through the next 500 years

Half Enlightened Masters

The purpose of this book is to familiarize the reader with the steps to be taken in the process of Self-discovery. In order to accomplish Self-discovery it is necessary to look at ways people have accomplished this. Religion and the occult world have where many looked first. I am comparing what I understand of the Universal Laws with the different organizations I have included

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- To learn about a number of teachings and organizations that are seen as bearers of hidden truths
- To learn about the Universal Laws by which you can compare to these organizations and to identify and verify the Universal Laws in your own life experiences and therefore have a basis for comparison
- To learn about rituals, their purpose, their validity and their benefit for you in your process of evolution and unfoldment
- To learn to compare several approaches other than that taught by the organization featured in this book
- To find a clear path to self-realization without all the initiations, rituals and demands to accept the teachings of the organizations covered in this book

Original Science

We tend to think of modern science as very advanced, and far superior to ancient thought. In some areas this is true but at the same time we must remember that this has taken many centuries of theorizing and getting it wrong before getting it right. One thinker would postulate a theory and another would prove him wrong and/or build on the idea. Some ideas of ancient thinkers have been stated, forgotten, and modern science has proved them to be correct. Human beings have excelled in defining, categorizing and differentiating. We have been so successful in walling off disciplines from each other that much has been lost. In this book you will see these fathers of mathematics and physics were also philosophers and recognized the connection between the Universal Laws and natural laws.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- To learn about Pythagoras and Aristotle, the father of modern physics Why Aristotle wrote a book he called The First Philosophy
- Learn what both physics and metaphysics reveal about our dynamic universe
- The essence of movement, change, or dynamic interplay
- To gain a better understanding of the Universal Laws that underwrite our laws of physics

Institute of Applied Metaphysics PhAM Workbook

This workbook contains all the essays and questions for them along with the lesson questions for all the texts in the third level of the Institute. The PhAM takes the student to a different level of thinking. The student is aided by the fact that the first level, the ULS, deals almost exclusively with the Universal Laws. This is the foundation of the study program. The second level deals with the manifestation process. In this third level the objective is to tie everything together so that the student has the big picture. At this level it is possible to see how the Universal Laws work, the way one comes to understand the process of evolution and unfoldment, and reveals much about the enigmas found in ancient texts. As a graduate of this level you are entitled to teach any of the courses in this level and are eligible for ordination as a Doctor – Metaphysician by the Church of Revelation.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- Metaphysical interpretations of familiar passages of ancient texts
- Learn a great deal about the influences which have helped develop human beings as we know them
- Texts that take you past the story lines created by early religious organizations as history provides in extant writings

Contemporary Revelers

This book is a review of contemporary writers who have addressed and explained some, if not all, of the Universal Laws. This fact is not recognized by those who have written reviews of these authors and their books. For example, people who write about Edgar Casey involve themselves in how accurate his readings of the future have been. They miss the significance of his identification and verification of the Universal Laws. This book is not an endorsement of everything any of these writers wrote. It is an observation of their definitions of the Universal Laws.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- Verification of the Universal Laws as expressed in the Renford Books
- Very different perspectives expressed on the same Universal Laws
- A clearer picture of what the Universal Laws are and what to look for when reading

Language of the Mind

When we attempt to interpret a dream, especially one that is recurring, we have no hope unless we know the language being used. We think in pictures, and it is motion pictures we receive. These pictures are symbols with which the inner being is using to talk to us. If we associate the dream only with the picture or scenes related to the experience in the relative conscious state while awake it is like trying to translate a language we do not know. If we know the symbols we know the language of the mind.

What You Can Expect From This Book:

- Definitions of symbols from research over many years by people like Karl Jung and others
- To learn something of the seven levels of the mind and why it is important to know them
- To focus on the process of identifying and verifying the Universal Laws in your own life experiences rather than be dependent on someone to explain what they may or may not know
- A substantial list of questions and detailed answers

Over 30 books have been written in which I stress the need to identify and verify the Universal Laws in our own life experiences. Only in some of the workbooks have I provided exercises or instructions on how to accomplish this. Nether have I shown the connection between the four pillars, identification, verification, observation and Meditation.

What you can expect from this book:

- What it means to identify a universal Law
- How to verify a law using your own life experiences
- How to build on the process of identifying and verifying the Universal Laws with observation of others and yourself
- How to move from conscious recognition and action in order to prepare for intuitive knowing through meditation

My Mission – My Way

It is my observation that we often have no idea of a mission when we are young. We often do not recognize our teachers for what they are until they are gone.. I did not know what I was going to Viet Nam for. I only thought I knew. I do know that I had little awareness until I was there, and awareness grew from that point. This book is about my journey. If you find parallels, I hope you can benefit by my story.

What you can expect from this book:

- To know me as much as anyone as I take you back to my earliest memories
- To learn something of the Universal Laws from my perspective
- To learn where you are. Without the need to travel nor to contemplate on a mountain top in Tibet

Renford Affirmations

I know that anything I can conceive and believe I can achieve. Everyday ideas are coming to me. Every day I gain more confidence because I believe in myself. God dwells in me, and I can access God Power by recognizing my innate powers.

I know that there are certain Universal Principles or Laws upon which all laws, including the laws of physics, rest. I am persistent in my identification of these Laws in my life. I am using my innate powers to come into harmony with these Laws of life. I know that these Laws are the Divine Self-Expression and that through understanding them in my life experiences, I can BE STILL AND KNOW GOD.

I see all problems as challenges that simply require a learning process. I love them because they exist in Divine Love for my benefit. I understand that proper perspective is necessary to begin any work and I'm daily developing the capability to view my life in proper perspective.

The essence of God is in me and I am pure potentiality. Every thought I have creates. I am aware that I can create destructively as easily as I can create constructively; therefore, my every thought is observed as if I were outside looking in. Negative and fearful thoughts are immediately apprehended and brought into the light from the dark corners and hidden caverns of my mind. In their place, creative and constructive thoughts are building the edifice of self-knowledge and understanding, which is my birthright.

I know that there are no limits upon the abundance that is available to me, except those that I place upon myself. I am releasing all thoughts that restrict or limit me. I am attracting all the skills, people and materials that I need to fulfill my primary purpose. These assets and attributes are daily being placed on the infrastructure that I have created in thought. I am manifesting what I have imaged in thought.

I know that I am not alone but part of the absolute unity of all. I know that every action has a reaction. I know that everything is connected; therefore, there are always consequences of my thoughts, attitudes and actions. I observe this and daily create an ever-expanding positive force.

I am giving of myself every day in every way. I share my wealth, time and knowledge, and the cosmos rewards me in multiples of my giving. It is inevitable that I receive when I give, because this is an expression of a Universal Law.

I know that no matter what I give or receive, there is only one essential ingredient, and this ingredient is the makeup of God. IT IS LOVE. Every time I share my knowledge, wealth or time, I am giving packets of LOVE—Packets of God. Love is all that I have been given, and it is all that I can give. I give love freely and daily.

I know where I am, who and what I am, and what I am capable of. I know that my capacity for energetic activity, creative thought and love is endless and that my energy supplier, Universal Being, is infinite.

I take responsibility for what I have and will create. I know that what I create in thought, and give the power of emotion to, will be manifested. I AM IN EVERY WAY CREATING MY LIFE! ~ ~ ~

THE RENFORD THEATER

The RBR Hosts program has developed into a fraternity of teachers, healers, creators and service oriented personalities. We have formerly been limited to two hours per day broadcast time with 12 shows per week. Of course this limited the number of Hosts, the genres and the audience we could reach. We think that those who are producing these shows and working to provide information and services to listeners worldwide are dedicated and the potential for an expanded network is present. This is a diverse group and each host has appeal for a segment of the listener base and may create their own listener base. While we may have differences in belief systems, skills and approaches to the public the core intent is to serve. We have a variety of backgrounds but as hosts we all want the same thing. We want successful shows with a good audience base and to share what we have come to know by interviewing service oriented guests.

Institute of Applied Metaphysics

901-358-2226, iamrenford@gmail.com YouTube.com / Renford Broadcast Network
Visit www.IAM-COR.org to see the virtual campus of the Institute

The Institute was born in the information age, and the Internet is the primary vehicle for contact and distribution. It brings a simple message that connects the dots for those who are seriously on the personal development path. Each of 13 Universal Laws relate to the other 12, and the power is in knowing this. Many organizations bring a wide variety of teachers and lessons to their members. Though they are good and beneficial, the connection escapes them. We cooperate and work with those who are open to cooperation.

The institute is clear about the differences between traditional education and knowledge that can be gained at the Institute. Students learn of the four fields of knowledge and what lies beyond what is traditionally available. Above all, students recognize the difference between knowing facts and gaining understanding.

It is not enough to recognize metaphysical principles or to intellectually understand the Universal Laws. The Institute of Applied Metaphysics is about applying what you have come to understand intellectually or recognize intuitively. It is about continuing the process of creation. It is about sharing this knowledge through effective and productive leadership. If we are not continuously giving, we cannot expand our vessel for receiving.

The basis of the Renford Books is the study of the Universal Laws, and yet this is the material that, if it comes out clearly at all, comes very late in many esoteric schools. I have placed this at the beginning because without understanding of the Universal Laws, there is no foundation for understanding Levels Two and Three. The reasons are addressed in the section pertaining to the degree program, but they are painfully obvious when you find books that cover the subject matter of Sections Two and Three in isolation.

The Church of Revelation

This is an unusual church and not one you can join in the traditional sense. Membership is based on understanding what the church is all about. With the reading of The COR Document and completion of the questions, membership is automatic. With the completion of the first level of the Institute of Applied Metaphysics, ordination as a Minister Teacher is available. With completion of the second level, ordination as a Master Teacher is available. With completion of the third level ordination as a Doctor Metaphysician is available. Nothing is held as more important than the individual, and there is no hierarchal structure other than the levels established by the completion of each degree of the Institute of Applied Metaphysics. There are no restrictions that would keep anyone from completing all three levels. www.IAM-COR.org

Identification, Verification, Observation and Meditation, are the four pillars of COR. Its purpose is to develop learning circles in which individuals may independently and jointly work on the process of Self-discovery. It is also to provide one-on-one assistance to those in the process of identifying and verifying the Universal Laws from their life experiences. The Laws of Material Wealth Personal Development Program

Introducing the historic release of the FOUNDATIONAL step-by-step program from James Renford Powell, the founder of The Institute of Applied Metaphysics.

The Laws of Material Wealth, the Workbook, 4 DVDs, 54 weeks of support material and online coaching

I know what it's like trying to understand how the Law of Attraction works when you only have a small piece of the puzzle!

That's why I decided to produce a comprehensive personal development program and connect the dots, clear up some of the ethereal nonsense and provide a clear picture of the process. It is a process, not a secret!

The Law of Attraction is only the tip of the iceberg. It is only 1 of the 13 Universal Laws that I refer to as The Universal Principles of Success.

These Laws all work in harmony with each other and make up the total process of creation. Without being aware of all 13 Laws, you will keep getting limited results.
